SITUATION SUMMARY

Highly Pathogenic H5N8 Avian Influenza Confirmed in Commercial Turkey Flock in California

Jan. 24, 2015— In a press release, the United States Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) has confirmed the presence of highly pathogenic (HPAI) H5N8 avian influenza in a commercial turkey flock in Stanislaus County, California. This is the first finding of HPAI in commercial poultry during the ongoing disease incident in the Pacific Flyway. No human cases of these avian influenza viruses have been detected in the United States, Canada, or internationally, and there continues to be no immediate public health concern.

Samples from the flock, which experienced increased mortality, were tested at the California Animal Health & Food Safety Laboratory System (CAHFS) and the APHIS National Veterinary Services Laboratories in Ames, Iowa confirmed the finding. APHIS is partnering closely with the California Department of Food and Agriculture (CDFA), which has quarantined the facility. APHIS and CDFA have initiated an incident command response, and APHIS will assist CDFA in depopulating the remaining birds on the property to prevent the spread of the disease.

Cal OES TDO John Hudson and CUEA Don Boland are providing assistance to CDFA and USDA to ensure adequate cellular communications connectivity at the designated ICP. Verizon Wireless responded with a portable repeater truck. Per the Cal OES TDO at 1611 hours on 01/24/15, Verizon will coordinate site access and will call for assistance if needed. Ben Green, Cal OES Telecommunications Coordinator, and ACS personnel responded at 2012 hours on 01/24/15 to assist Verizon on location for the COW (cell on wheels) placement. Mission 2015-INLAND-8419 opened. At 0459 hours on 01/25/15, Ben Green advised he was back home and mission was completed for the morning. Per the Cal OES IDO, on 01/25/15, Cal OES Inland Region has deployed field Emergency Services Coordinator Kyle Noderer to the ICP to assist CDFA and USDA. At 1610 hours on 01/25/15, Ben Green was en route back to Stanislaus County.

Cal EOC Incident – 2014 Drought

- SOC / Inland REOC remains activated in support of 2014 Drought

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

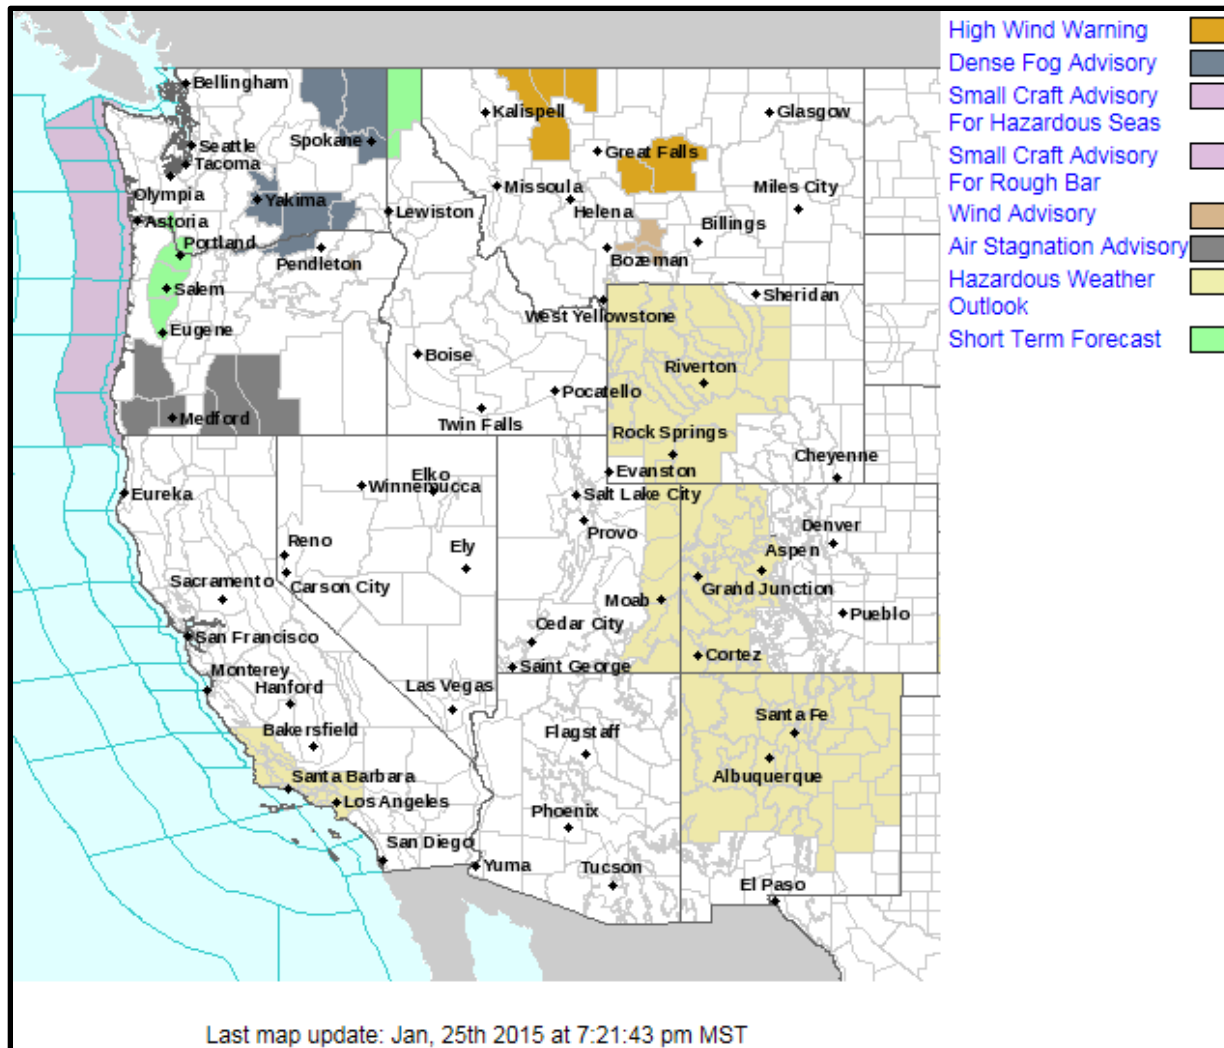

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

High pressure over the Western U.S. will bring fair skies, above normal temperatures, and relatively low humidity to the higher elevations over the next couple of days. Morning fog will remain a feature in the central valley and Delta as well. Breezy east winds will continue over the Sierra-Cascades today and tonight. A low pressure system off the Southern California coast will lift Northeast through Southern California on Tuesday and early Wednesday bringing a threat of precipitation to the entire forecast area but mainly to the Sierra-Cascade range. The remainder of the extended period looks dry under rebounding high pressure.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

High pressure aloft over California will continue warmer weather today. Surface high pressure over the Great Basin will bring locally strong gusty northeast to east winds this morning, gradually diminishing this afternoon. The gusty winds combined with low inland humidities will cause near critical fire weather conditions again today. For Monday and early Tuesday, a weak low pressure system from the southwest will bring showers, more likely for the mountains and deserts. A second weak low pressure system from the southwest could bring another chance of showers for late in the week.
